 Rakesh : How much time would it take to open the account?
 Bank Clerk : If you have all the requisite documents with you now, it may be opened now. It depends on you.
 Rakesh : Thank you very much, sir for sharing the information.

B. Karan : Good morning, doctor.
 Doctor : Good morning, what is the problem?
 Karan : Doctor, I feel body ache and my eyes are getting red. I cannot eat anything.
 Doctor : (Examines the pulse and eyes of Karan). You probably have viral fever. Did you vomit?
 Karan : No, doctor.
 Doctor : Since when have you been feeling sick?
 Karan : Doctor, I have been feeling sick for the past two days.
 Doctor : Are your passing normal stool and urine?
 Karan : Doctor, I could not eat anything so I did not pass any stool. The colour of urine is yellow.
 Doctor : It seems that you have UTI as well.
 Karan : Doctor, what is UTI?
 Doctor : UTI stands for Urinary Tract Infection. (Takes a letter head) I am writing these medicines for you. Take them for three days and report to me later. (writes the prescription)
 Karan : Thank you very much, doctor.
 Doctor : (gives the prescription to Karan) Take lemon juice and oranges in plenty.

- Karan : What is your fee, doctor?
Doctor : It is ₹500 per visit. (Karan pays the money)
Karan : (leaving) Thank you very much, doctor.
Doctor : You are welcome!

A. 1. An Ideal Student

An ideal student is the best student of his class. He is very much disciplined and obedient. He respects all; that is why he earns the respect of all. He helps his fellow classmates in all possible ways. He does not learn bad habits. He always speaks the truth. He is regular in his academic tasks. He divides his time between studies and games. An ideal student is a selfless worker. He never quarrels with anyone around him. He is a well-behaved person. He loves everyone. His good qualities help him succeed in all walks of life.

2. Trees are Our Best Friends

Trees are really our best friends. They are essential to life. Trees help us in fulfilling our basic necessities. They provide us fresh air. They absorb carbon dioxide and release oxygen. Trees give us wood which is used for building and many other purposes. If there are more trees, there will be more rain. They prevent soil erosion as well. They also provide many useful items for our use. We should plant more and more trees. We should not cut them. If we cut the trees, we will be digging our own graves.

3. Science: A bane or boon

Today, science has so much involved in our life that it is really hard to imagine living without the science. To decide that whether science is a boon or a bane for mankind is not a simple decision. The basic aim of science is to look for reality and to find those factors, formally uncommon. Civilisation, as it is today, also came from numerous discoveries that were made in the field of science. It is science, which gave birth to destructive weapons like dynamite, guns, rifles, rockets, atom bombs, hydrogen bombs, etc. It is science that gave electrical power and nuclear power. If nuclear power is used for peaceful purposes, there is no need to fear. But, after all it is human to err. Can anyone say that there is no chance of the destruction of a Hiroshima or a Nagasaki being repeated? If that happens, will science not be a bane to humanity?

Leaving that apart, another creation of science is pollution of the environment. Industrialisation with the aid of science has polluted air, water, food and the atmosphere. The ozone layer is giving threatening signals. So here is a case for man to consider science as a cause of ruin. When the universe reveals more secrets to man by means of science, there is hope that the present man will become a superman and eventually science would be only a boon and not a bane to his life. Science without conscience is death of the soul.

4. Importance of games

Games are a great source of recreation. After work there should be play. It refreshes the tired mind and gives new strength to us. This is perhaps the only recreation which has no evil effect. That is why; sports are an important part of school education. Games destroy the evil in us and show us the way to use extra energy.

Thus, we find games develop the best in our body and mind. Games have a humanising effect and make us better human. In short, we can say that games educate and prepare us for life. Games are catalysts that promote our health and help us in the all-round development of personality. We learn to have patience and tolerance. The joy of winning a game and the pain of defeat all have their ennobling influence on our personality. Outdoor games like Hockey, Cricket, Football, Volleyball and Kabaddi allow us to interact with the elements of nature whereas indoor games such as Chess, Carom-board and Cards help us imbibe the qualities of concentration and large heartedness. Whether one plays an outdoor game or indoor game, it is certain that one learns to be accommodating and bold.

B. 1. A Picnic I Enjoyed

Last Sunday, we went for a picnic. We were a group of five boys and five girls. We set out in the morning at 7 o'clock. We went by bus. We arrived at Panchgani at 10 a.m. We opened our luggage and spread our carpets in a beautiful meadow. We arranged food neatly on the carpet. The scene was picturesque. There were lush green hills around us. We danced to the tunes of Punjabi songs. We played 'Kho-Kho' and 'Antakshari'. Some of the girls played badminton. Boys swam in the pond that was nearby. Then, we took lunch at around 2 p.m. We played cards later. We drank coffee as well from the thermos. The afternoon became cold, so we wore woollen clothes to keep ourselves warm. Finally, we packed our carpets and utensils and put them in the bus. The bus set out for home. We bade goodbye to Panchgani. This picnic was like a dream for us.

2. My first day in the class after final examination

My first day in class VII was really the happiest moment of my life. As I entered the class, all the students gave me a warm welcome. Then our class teacher came. He introduced me to all the students. Then I gave my introduction to the class. After that the class teacher started a new lesson on grammar. He also asked me a few questions. I answered them satisfactorily. He was very happy with me. So, it was a motivating experience for me.

3. Happiest day of my life

The day I was selected in the NTSE exam was the happiest day in my life. It was really like a dream come true for me. My parents and teachers were very happy. They congratulated me. My neighbours were also very happy. I had really worked hard. My tutor, Mr. A. Khanna was also very happy. He had really taught me very well. I can't forget this day.

4. Discipline

The discipline is the ability to do things in due time with proper planning and timely execution of things. Discipline is the core of human life. It is learned from family at home as well as at school. Discipline that is learned at an early age of child is long lasting and beneficial. A student with discipline is always punctual and he finishes his homework on time. Discipline helps students to get success in every walk of life. It helps a man to be honest, self-satisfied and successful in career. There are many physical, psychological and health benefits of a disciplined life. A student should learn discipline at an early age to be better in his future. Our forefathers and national heroes have always talked about the significance of discipline in life for success.

5. Cleanliness is next to godliness

Cleanliness is the first and foremost habit that should be cultivated in our mind. From childhood, our parents teach us that Cleanliness is next to Godliness. This is because; by being clean you help yourself and others too. We should learn to maintain our cleanliness right from the start of the day till we go to bed. A clean body gives way to sound mind.

People who do not give up cleanliness will definitely be conscious about cleanliness everywhere. Keeping our environment clean is social responsibility. So, besides keeping ourselves clean, we should also learn to keep our surroundings clean.

We should throw waste in the dustbin. We should not only do this, but also educate others on the habit – cleanliness. If every individual takes cleanliness as his or her own duty, a Clean India would not be a dream but a reality. One such effort is the “Clean India” campaign (Swachh Bharat Abhiyan) initiated by the Government of India. Let us participate in this campaign as true citizens and make our India a clean environment to live in.

Dearest Diary,

Last week was too hectic. But I did not forget you. The river near our city was in spate due to heavy rains. Flood waters had gathered in all areas of the city. Thousands of people had to leave their homes. We organised a flood relief camp at Taimur Nagar to help these victims of deluge. I helped them too. We gave them medicines, beds, clothes and blankets. We also served food to them. I stayed in the camp for three days and two nights. Now, I will go to the camp next Sunday. Flood waters are rising but we, too, are resolute. Good night!

Sunday, 10 August, March 20XX

Dearest Diary,

Last Sunday I enjoyed boating along with my two friends at the India gate. It was a full moon night and an excellent time for boating. It was really a beautiful sight. For an hour, it seemed as if we were in another world. It was our maiden experience. After that we returned home and relished ice cream. Good night!

Friday, 29 March, 20XX

My dearest diary,

I was stuck up in the sky, literally!

Two days ago, i.e., on March 27, I boarded the Air India Flight 632. My mother was with me. We were going to Mumbai from Delhi to meet my maternal uncle who lives in Mumbai. Our aircraft had hardly flown from T1 terminal of New Delhi's IGI Airport when I learnt that it had been hijacked. Oh God! I was terrified; so were all the passengers. There were two hijackers – one in the cockpit and the other at the rear of the aircraft. The air hostess caught the hand of my mother and told us that everything would be fine. Her prophecy proved to be true. A few passengers mustered the courage and caught those hijackers. They were not terrorists. They were two unemployed youths who wanted to become part of the news headlines of various media. Later, they were arrested at the Mumbai airport when our aircraft landed there. Oh! What a scary incident that was. Good night!

Comprehension

Pages-163 & 164

- A.
1. Different people choose different types of books according to their tastes or liking.
 2. The students waste their time in reading cheap novels.
 3. The students should not choose cheap novels and useless books because they might lose their interest in their own studies.

4. Young boys and girls should develop the habit of reading their textbooks and other good books. They must not read cheap and useless books. In that way, they will not fall in bad company.

Pages-164 & 165

- B.
1. Pollution is the degradation of natural environment by external substances introduced directly or indirectly.
 2. Pollution occurs when ecosystems cannot get rid of substances introduced into the environment. The ability of the ecosystems to naturally eliminate substances is compromised and so, the balance of ecosystems is broken.
 3. The sources of pollution are natural disasters or the result of human activities including oil spills, chemical spills and nuclear accidents.
 4. The consequences of pollution can be terrible for people and the planet they live on. Biodiversity will be destroyed. Man's mortality rate will increase. Also, animal species will die and become extinct. The quality of soil, water and air will degrade. Natural habitats will be destroyed.
 5. We should adopt measures for remedying existing pollution and prevent further pollution sources for environmental protection and health of public. Any environmental damage must be punishable by law. Polluters must pay compensation for the damage caused to the environment.
- C.
1. Dolphins are regarded as the friendliest creatures in the sea.
 2. The more we learn about dolphins, the more we realise that their society is more complex than people previously imagined.
 3. Some scientists have suggested that dolphins have a language but it is much more probable that they communicate with each other without needing words.
 4. The most common argument in favour of man's superiority over dolphins is that we can kill them more easily than they can kill us and this is the least satisfactory argument.
 5. The more we discover about these remarkable creatures, the less superior we appear when we destroy them.

A. Should the Teacher Allot our Seats in a Classroom?

Of course, teachers should allot seats in a classroom. In a section, there are approximately 50 students. Front benchers pay more attention to their lesson. Back benchers indulge in gossiping and do not pay attention to their lesson. Seats in a classroom must be allocated by the teachers because they are the best judge of students. They know well who is concentrating on his lesson and who is not.

B. Is Computer Essential for Children?

I fully agree with this topic. Computers are present in every walk of life. Students need to study, send mail, entertain themselves and sharpen their brains. Computers help them achieve all these goals. It is the digital era and students must use computers to keep themselves aware of the latest happenings. They should not misuse computers and the Internet in any case. Their parents should keep strict vigil over them so that they (children) do not go astray while using computers.

C. Should too Much Homework be Given to School Children?

I just disagree with this point. If too much homework is given to the students, they will feel burdened. They will only be busy in finishing their homework. They will neither play nor do any other activity. Their physical as well as mental growth will get obstructed. They will also not be able to concentrate on their self-studies. So, homework should be given to a limited extent only.

D. Watching TV for a Long Time is Good for Us.

I fully disagree with this topic. No one should watch TV for long hours. If we watch TV for long hours, our eyes get strained. Television is coined as 'Idiot box' making one's brain dull and inactive. What's more, our spines are also stressed due to a regular sitting posture. We waste a lot of time on TV. We can use this time to prepare for our tests and exams. Hence, we should watch TV for a limited number of hours only. We can watch TV for education, entertainment and relaxation of the mind. Not all content is of use to us. That is why we should choose our content carefully. In short, we should not watch TV for long duration.
